It is utterly important to develop imagination and creativity in children. It can be simply proved with one of my most favourite children's book about Le Petit Prince. This book is about a pilot and a boy who was from an asteroid. I reckon, that only imagination and creativity helped the boy to struggle with all the difficulties which he had to pass through. So, if children weren't taught to be creative, they wouldn't be able to deal with the world. 81

Твор 2

Once upon a time there was a yellow dog with a black spot on its back. The dog was utterly inquisitive, and one day it found a rather big box with a red cover in the corner of a room.

- What is it? - the dog asked itself as it was approaching that strange object. It sniffed the box.

- It smells nothing, - said the dog. - What if I try to remove the cover?
The dog's eyes became wider as something small was lying inside. Suddenly, all the small objects jumped out of the box.

- Run! - the dog thought and ran away from the jumping things.

However, that's not the end of the story. All of the written-above had happened five minutes before a stout woman in a red blouse and a black skirt covered with a white apron entered the living room.

Now she is looking over the strange things. She is terrified. She doesn't even have a guess what they are, and that's why she runs away and gets into the hall. There her husband <sup>dressed</sup> in a black waistcoat and a white bow-tie is, with a fishing rod and a smile on his face.

- Here you are! - the woman shouts. She has a plan.

She will get closer and kick the man with a mop because she is sure that it was him pulling her leg. He ~~will~~ will fall down and may be confused for a while but then he'll think properly about what he has done.

But that's another story. We can only guess what <sup>will</sup> happened to the old man and his dog. <sup>next</sup> I myself reckon that the man will apologise for his dog's behaviour and everything will be alright.

Peter Pan

~~Imagination and creativity are the most important characteristics~~

Imagination and creativity are utterly important to develop in children.

It can be easily proved with one of the most favourite children's book about Peter Pan and his friends. This book's plot is connected with the world in which children always remained ~~good~~ children. Imagination helped them to struggle difficulties, so as the creativity did. 45
I reckon that if we don't

B ~~Imagin~~

B Imagination and creativity are utterly important to ~~be~~ be developed in 10 children. It can be simply proved with one of my most favourite & 22 children's book about Le Petit Prince. This book is about ~~a boy~~ a pilot 34 and a boy who was from an asteroid. I reckon that only 46
