

89

МОСКОВСКИЙ ГОСУДАРСТВЕННЫЙ УНИВЕРСИТЕТ имени М.В. ЛОМОНОСОВА

ОЛИМПИАДНАЯ РАБОТА

Наименование олимпиады школьников: «Ломоносов»

Профиль олимпиады: Английский язык

ФИО участника олимпиады: Жаголкина Елизавета Андреевна

Класс: 11

Технический балл: 89

Дата проведения: 05 марта 2022 года

Once upon a time there was a gorgeous princess who was to inherit untold riches. She was named Mary after her mother who died because of a terrible betrayal. Without any anticipation the girl became Queen Mary.

Unfortunately, other kings would threaten her with calamitous wars. But knowing her eye on prosperity of her people, Mary wanted to save her lands.

She forgot how to smile with her insurmountable grief. She was in two minds whether to marry a royal person, but eventually tied the knot with a magnificent knight, who blissfully won all the battles.

Finally, Mary enjoyed some peace. Once gloomy and crestfallen, she started to laugh again. Mary fell for her knight and lived happily ever after.

1. False, because Edward I got the throne from his father who was King Henry III. Nevertheless, Alexander Nevsky was elected.
2. False, because at least Alexander won the battle on the Neva River.
3. True, because Queen Eleanor helped her husband (Edward I) to deal with his temper. Alexander tied the knot with a princess from Polotsk.
4. True, because nothing like this is said about Alexander, but Edward had to deal with his arrogance and anger.
5. False, because at least Edward loved his way of reigning.
6. True, because nothing like this is said about Alexander, but Edward could negotiate patiently.
7. True, because Edward I is known for his reforms but ~~not~~ of them changed the way his country was governed. Alexander gave his throne to his son, although the Prince should have been elected.
8. True, Edward I was even named "English Justinian", Alexander promulgated laws.

Yurobuc - 3

- Good afternoon! It's your favourite show "Ask the writer" with Hazel Bright. Today I'm happy to introduce Sasha Mirny, whose latest book "The storm" is a new bestseller. Hi, Sasha! Tell us about yourself, please.

- Hi, Hazel. Well, I'm from Gorodok. It's a tiny town in Belarus. My town is known for another writer, Mr Veranitsyn. I can't say he was my inspiration, though. I won some school competition when I was seven and never looked back.

- Yeah, the numbers can't lie!

- I've written four sci-fi books. To spill the tea, I'm a big fan of this movement.

- And so am I! Are you working on something right now?

- Yes. My new book is named "Radioactive". A girl travels back in 1985 and tries to prevent the catastrophe of Chernobyl, which seriously affected her family and my country.

- Sounds like a lot of scientific research!

- Because it is, Hazel. The girl has to invent special machines. You know, it has always been popular to create a new special gadget for your character.

- That's right. What do you think of this trend?

Microbook - 4

- I reckon it'll never get old. But, of course, there are some changes. For instance, there were ancient myths about Dedal who invented special wings but we have planes now. Even more, rockets! So writers describe sophisticated space crafts!

- I get it. Everything is modernised!

- Exactly. Another trend is to outsmart the death. In my book "Insurmountable" the scientist finally saves his wife from the HIV.

- Amazing! I remember James Dashner wrote "The Death Cure" where people were making an injection against the Fluor, a terrifying disease.

- That's my favourite book! He has one more "the Maze runner", which has some robots to fight against.

- Is it ~~another~~ trend?

- Of course. I dare to say 70% of sci-fi books have these fights!

- I see. Unfortunately, we've almost run out of time. So, the last question, Sasha. What will we see in the future?

- The trends?

- Yeah.

Yurobuk - 5

- Well, I bet we'll see even more cosmic expeditions. And probably hundreds of stories about some scientist who defeated coronavirus-19.

- Or tried to prevent it, huh?

- That's right.

- I can't agree more, than. Thank you so much for coming, Sasha. Good luck with your new book.

- Thanks for having me!

- It's been "Ask the writer" with Hazel Bright. Have a nice day!

48

Yeprobuk - 1

1 Once upon a time there was a gorgeous
 2 ~~princess~~ ^{queen} who ~~was to~~ inherit ~~the~~ untold riches.
 3 She was named Mary after her mother who
 4 ~~unfortunately~~, her ~~parents~~ died because of a terrible
 5 betrayal, so without any anticipation the 6 girl became ~~the next~~ Queen ~~As At Mary~~.
 7 Unfortunately, other kings would threaten
 8 her with ^{calamitous} wars, but she ^{was} ~~had~~ her eye on prosperity
 9 of her ~~lands~~ and ~~wanted~~ she ^{Mary} wanted to 10 ~~save~~ her ^{lands} ~~people~~.
 11 She was in two minds whether
 12 to marry ~~some~~ ^a royal person, but eventually 13 ~~said yes to~~ ^{tied the knot with} a magnificent knight, who blissfully
 14 ~~won~~ all the battles
 15 ~~Moreover~~ ^{Mary and the knight really} they fell for each other ~~and~~
 16 ~~and~~ ^{had three kids, and Mary the Queen was getting started to smile and} ~~lived happily ever after~~ ^{the Queen was getting started to smile and} ~~the~~ even laugh.

1) 8 (15)	8) 9 (49)	14) 4 (82) (26)
2) 7 (23)	9) 6 (55)	15) 9 (91) (35)
3) 8 (26)	10) 3 (58)	16) 5 (86) (40)
4) 3 (32)	11) 6 (64)
5) 6 (35)	12) 4 (71) (13)
6) 3 (40)	13) 9 (78) (22)
7) 5

Finally, they could enjoy some peace. ~~got rid of her insurmountable~~

96
 + 1
 + 2
 + 1
 with insurmountable grief
 34
 + 24
 61

Угробум Угробум - 2

1. False, because Edward I got the throne from his father who was King Henry III. Nevertheless, Alexander Nevsky was elected.
 2. False, because at least Alexander won the battle on the Neva River.
 3. True, because Queen Eleanor helped her husband (Edward I) to deal with his temper. Alexander Nevsky tied the knot with a Princess from Polotsk.
 4. True, because nothing like that is said about Alexander, but Edward had to deal with his arrogance and anger.
 5. False, because at least Edward loved his way of reigning.
 6. True, because nothing like this is said about Alexander, but Edward could negotiate patiently.
1. True, because Edward ^{I is known for his} ~~made a lot of~~ reforms but not how the coun but not they ^{we} aren't connected those that changes the way his country was governed. But Alexander ^{should have been elected.} gave his throne to his son, although the Prince fly, but now we have ^{reproducible} ~~promises~~! ~~too~~ ~~they~~ People dream ~~and~~ stories about exploring the moon, now we can do it. They dreamt of the Philosopher Stone, we invented injections. In my book

"Insurmountable" the scientist ~~finally~~ ^{successfully} his wife from the MTV.

Then they wanted we got rockets and now writers describe ^{sophisticated} space crafts.

- I get it! Everything is modernised!
- Exactly. Moreover, thanks to science
Another trend is ~~to save the ill~~ to outsmart
the death with some ^{thing new} ~~poison~~ →

Amazing! I ~~guess~~ ^{remember like} five years ago
- Right. In 2014 James Dashner wrote
"The Death Cure" where ~~he~~ people were making an injection against "The flare", a ~~very~~ terrifying disease.

- ~~I~~ ~~to~~ that's ^{my} favourite book ~~from~~ another ~~book~~ another book of his,
- Wow! ~~But~~ "The Maze runner" ^{which} has some robots
He was ~~another~~ ^{one more} ~~of~~ ^{astounding} book) to fight against.

Is it ~~another~~ a trend?
- And it's ~~another~~ trend?

- Of course Hazel. I dare to say 90% sci-fi books have these fights!

- I see, ~~I~~ Unfortunately, ^{вероятно} we've almost run out of time. So, the last question, Sasha. What will we see in the future?
- The trends?
- Yeah.
- Well, I bet we'll see even more cosmic expeditions. And probably ~~some~~ hundreds of stories of how some scientist defeated Coronavirus - 19.
- Or ~~they~~ tried to prevent it, huh?
- That's right, ~~to~~
- ~~I~~ I can't agree more, ~~then~~. Thank you so much for coming, Sasha. Good luck with your new book.
- Thanks for having me!
- It's been "Ask the writer" with Hazel Bright. Have a nice day!
-

whose latest book "The storm" ~~has already~~ been is a new bestseller.

- I see, ~~I~~ Unfortunately, ^{вероятно} we've almost run out of time. So, the last question, Sasha. What will we see in the future?
- The trends?
- Yeah.
- Well, I bet we'll see even more cosmic expeditions. And probably ~~some~~ hundreds of stories of how some scientist defeated Coronavirus - 19.
- Or ~~they~~ tried to prevent it, huh?
- That's right, ~~to~~
- ~~I~~ I can't agree more, ~~then~~. Thank you so much for coming, Sasha. Good luck with your new book.
- Thanks for having me!
- It's been "Ask the writer" with Hazel Bright. Have a nice day!
-

whose latest book "The storm" ~~has already~~ been is a new bestseller.