Book 1. Chapter 5.

A.

1. The statement is FALSE because while Edward I inherited the crown, Aleksandr Nevsky was elected.
2. The statement is FALSE because Aleksandr Nevsky fought against the Germans and Swedes while Edward I conquered the Welsh.
3. The statement is TRUE, as Edward I formed an alliance ~~with~~ with Queen Eleanor and Nevsky ~~became a husband in 1239~~ became a husband in 1239.
4. The statement is TRUE because Edward I was the one to have difficulties suppressing his anger. ~~because~~
5. NOT STATED
6. The statement is TRUE because Edward I learnt how to negotiate in order to achieve his goals. Nevsky had to use military force.
7. The statement is TRUE because ~~because~~ Aleksandr's son Vasily was ruling in Novgorod not because people had elected him but because Nevsky gave him permission.

B.

I was in despair. The only thing I remember is wanting to save my husband. People tried to threaten me but I wasn't afraid of losing untold riches or not inheriting my parents' magnificent house.

So I tried to contact Nikolay I or somebody else from the royal family. They answered. Nikolay I considered my husband's actions a betrayal and said that my anticipation had been in vain.

I remember realising that I would never hug my man blissfully. ~~But~~ Still, I had my eyes on only goal, for I was Trubetskaya.

Book 2.

Mikhail Bulgakov is considered one of the key figures in Russian modernism. His texts are flowery and complex. His ideas are profound and unique. Bulgakov ~~has many fans~~ is

Булгаков III

Still popular even though his works were written in the 20th century. But most importantly, he is also a doctor. That's why the topic of our ~~today's~~ conversation is science. We are going to talk about ~~current~~ current trends and compare them to the trends of the 20th century.

As Bulgakov is sitting next to me wearing his impeccable suit, I ~~am~~ am asking him my first question, "In one of your works 'Notes of a Doctor' your character wants to fight against people's ignorance in terms of science. I have already told you about Internet and the way we can share information there. Do you think it could help your character nowadays?"

Bulgakov is smiling. "Well, to see is not to know, right? From what you've told me, Internet is a place where you could find anything. Not everybody ~~is~~ is interested in science. I think that my character's ideas were naive in the 20th century. But they are naive nowadays, too. You cannot fight against somebody else's ignorance but you can conquer your own." I am slowly proceeding his answer before speaking again, "Your works are Set on this planet. One of the current trends is exploring space. What do you think about it?" Bulgakov is taking a moment to ~~collect~~ collect his thoughts. "Space has always beckoned people. I do understand that but we have enough problems here. We need to improve medicine because medicine is never perfect." Bulgakov is moving in his chair. "Would professor Preobrazhensky like to live in the 21st century?" He would have much more opportunities." Bulgakov is shrugging. "No, I don't think he would. It would not be interesting for him, as he would not be the only one. His ideas would not be so provocative." Now it is time to ask about robots. "It is also one of the ~~current~~ trends. Robots can even operate. What is your opinion on this topic?" He is shrugging again. "I would like to see it myself before judging."

As our conversation is going to ~~an~~ an end, I am asking Bulgakov to predict some future trends in science. ~~He~~ "People will probably try to leave ~~this~~ planet instead of improving it." He is smiling again.
