

98

МОСКОВСКИЙ ГОСУДАРСТВЕННЫЙ УНИВЕРСИТЕТ имени М.В. ЛОМОНОСОВА

ОЛИМПИАДНАЯ РАБОТА

Наименование олимпиады школьников: «Ломоносов»

Профиль олимпиады: Английский язык

ФИО участника олимпиады: Мишина Мария Ильинична

Класс: 9

Технический балл: 98

Дата проведения: 05 марта 2022 года

Учебник 1

Book 1 (A)

- 1) True (Every word in speech and literature implies a symbol)
- 2) NOT stated (No information is mentioned in the passage)
- 3) False (Symbolism is an economical method of revealing thoughts and experience)
- 4) False (Most poetic symbols refer to the conventional level of symbolism, which people eagerly accept)
- 5) True (Implicit symbols obtain a number of vague meanings and interpretations)
- 6) Not stated (The text doesn't provide the readers with this information)
- 7) True (Pupils, who want to immerse in the universe of symbols, should have any kind of reading experience)
- 8) False (Using too many allegories and private symbols may be a hindrance for the author to be understood correctly)

Book 1 (B)

In my opinion, imagination and creativity are an integral part of education and are as valuable as mathematics or science.

First, developing creativity is a step towards enhancing soft skills, which include unconventional thinking and empathy. Those, who have a bright imagination, may make a name for themselves in the field of cinema, art, music.

Second, the childhood period passes in the blink of an eye, that is why we should let children be young and independent. For example, Douglas Spaulding from Ray Bradbery's work "Dandelion Wine" is a broad-minded boy, who has an extraordinary gift of using his imagination, exploring new worlds and enjoying summer, even though he is already 12 years old.

Book 2.

Unbelievably hilarious and bitterly true.

"I'm fed up with it, we're getting divorced" Catherine exclaimed vigorously as I was collecting the worms around our house. Never have I imagined that one four-legged creature could possibly bring me so much trouble.

I have always been fond of fishing, that is why my garage and balcony were filled with fishing stuff. My wife, Catherine, never shared my passion and was rather indifferent to all these boxes and nests. However, it was nearly a fatal mistake not to keep them ~~closed~~ locked.

Our beloved little friend, Mikey, was a smart and curious dog. Yesterday he decided to explore what was hidden inside the fishing equipment. As I conjure it up in my mind, he snuffed and without a second thought opened it. It must have been astonishing for the dog to get acquainted with hundreds of worms. No doubt, Mikey ran away as fast as he could in order not to be caught red-handed.

This morning, as you can imagine, Catherine has experienced the delightful consequences of the Pandora box. My wife is a lovely woman and excellent mother and, even though I am under her thumb, I still love her from the bottom of my heart. Right now I am ~~collecting~~ trying to catch these worms, but they are too tiny to collect no matter how hard my attempts are.

What concerns my perspectives for the future, they are not bright at all. Catherine will get even more furious when she discovers that the insects have spoiled our antique furniture. I am convinced I will never make up for what my pet did and surely never again return to fishing. Nevertheless, this is lifelong experience, which I will definitely recall for the rest of my life.

Упражнение 1.

1. Language is full of symbolism. T

Every word in speech and literature implies a symbol.

2. Some symbols are easily recognizable. NS

No information is mentioned in the passage.

3. Symbols do not enable us to ~~explore~~ express our thoughts in short. F.

Symbolism, as the text mentions, is an economical method of revealing thoughts and aesthetic experience.

4. According to Professor Levin, simple symbols are not very traditional and commonly understood. F

Most poetic symbols refer to the conventional level of symbolism, which people usually accept.

5. Implicit symbols are very difficult to understand. T

Implicit symbols obtain a number of vague meanings and interpretations.

6. Symbols were not used in the works of literature in the past.

NS. The text doesn't provide ^{readers} me with this information.

7. Students learn symbols by extensive reading of literature. T

Pupils, who want to immerse in the universe of symbols, should have any kind of reading experience.

8. Students should use as many unique symbols in their creative writing as possible. F

Using too many allegories or private symbols may ~~lead~~ ^{be an} to obstacle/hindrance to be understood correctly.

Уеубубу 2.

Why is it important to develop imagination and creativity in children?

Example: Alexander I - Catherine the second
Ray Bradbery - Dandelion Wine
Spoulding Douglas

- ①. A step towards developing (enhancing) so-called "soft skills", for instance unconventional thinking or empathy. Those, who have a bright imagination, might make a name for themselves in the field of cinema, music, photography and others.
- ②. ~~Let children be young and creative during their childhood~~
The childhood period is so passes in the blink of an eye, that's why we should let children be young and creative. For example, Douglas Spoulding from "Dandelion wine" by Ray Bradbery. was a broad-minded boy, ~~who wanted to explore the environment around him.~~, ~~who used his imagination so often~~ ~~that~~ who had an extraordinary gift of using his imagination, exploring new worlds, even though he was already 12 years old.
- ③. In my opinion, imaginal and creativity are an integral part of ~~an~~ person's education. Therefore, we should make out utmost to develop them. \searrow are as valuable as maths or science

Клепнубук 3

- tarentula (worms)
- be held accountable for
- ✓ reach the end of the line
the final straw
- ✓ do your best
- ✓ fond of smth

- take its heavy toll
- make a promise
- wotsey (curious) creatures
make up for smth.
- ✓ without a second thought
- ✓ catch red-handed
be under someone's thumb

Z. "I'm fed up with it, we're getting divorced," Catherine ^{vigorously} exclaimed as I was trying to collect ~~my~~ the swarms around our house. Never have I imagined that one four-legged creature could possibly bring me so much trouble.

You would find it unbelievably hilarious except for the fact that it was true.

Z. I have always been fond of fishing as far as I can remember myself, so my garage and balcony were filled with fishing ^{that's why} stuff. My wife, Catherine, never shared my passion and was rather indifferent to all these boxes and nests. However, it was an enormous mistake not to store them locked ^{beloved}.

Z. Our little friend, Mikey, was a smart and curious dog. ^{Yesterday} ~~One~~ day he decided to explore what was hidden in the fishing boxes. As I conjure it up in my mind, he sniffed them and without a second thought decided to open. It must have been astonishing for the dog to get acquainted with hundreds of worms. No doubt, he ~~was shocked~~ and in order not to ^{be caught} get red-handed he ran away as fast as he could.

Z. This morning, as you can imagine, my wife ^{has experienced} ~~will be~~ ^{is going to} ~~be~~ delighted to ~~find~~ face the consequences of opening the ^{Pandora} box. Catherine is a lovely woman, but her only flaw is that she detests ^{and excellent mother} all types of animals. Right now I am doing my best to catch these swarms, ^{the final straw} however they are too tiny to collect no matter how hard I ^{try} → considering my perspectives for the future and even though I am under her thumb, I still love her from the bottom of my heart.

Успокоив 4

2. My perspectives for the future are not bright at all. Catherine will get ^{even more} furious when she discovers that ^{the} insects have spoiled our antique furniture.

and I'm convinced I will never make up for what my pet did, and surely never again return to fishing. From that day on, ~~I swear that nothing~~

Unbelievably hilarious and bitterly true