- A) 1. False - Nevsky was elected as the prince, whereas Edward I succeeded his father, who was the previous ruler.
2. False - Edward I conquered Wales and Nevsky won many battles against many Western powers and pagan tribes.
3. True - Edward's wife was named Eleanor, while Aleksandr's wife was princess from Polotsk.
4. True - One of the people mentioned in the texts above, Edward I, managed to reign in his temper with the help of his wife and chancellor.
5. Not stated
6. False - Edward I is known for his negotiation skills, while Nevsky succeeded in reducing the people's suffering, brought on by the Mongols, by carefully negotiating with the Khan.
7. True - Aleksandr Nevsky continued to rule during his son's reign, thus removing the power to choose a new ruler from the people.
8. False - Between the two of them, only Edward I is known to have made changes to his country's legal system.

B) Once upon a time there lived a mighty king. The man had inherited untold riches from his father and spent every penny wisely to protect his people, earning their undying loyalty.

Little did he know, that his own treacherous brother had his eye on his riches and has been plotting ~~for years to~~ his betrayal for years.

His Royal Majesty was blissfully unaware of the plot to overthrow him, until one day, when a band of mercenaries, hired by his brother, stormed his magnificent palace's walls and ~~threatened~~ threatened his life.

The king, clearly not anticipating this turn of events, abdicated in favour of his brother to save the kingdom from unneeded bloodshed, promising to return with the help of his subjects.

- c) - Good morning, ladies and gentlemen! You're watching the "Time Travel Channel" and today we have a special guest! Please, introduce yourself!
- Hi! Thanks for having me! I'm the ghost of Chernychevsky, a writer belonging to a literary movement called realism, which was popular from the second half of the 19th century to the early 20th century.
- Welcome aboard! Please, tell me, how accurately do you think your predictions of the future match up with our current reality?
- Well, to begin with, I had assumed that people of the future would use aluminium, which was regarded as a wonder-material during my time on Earth, for the majority of their infrastructure.
- Wow! Who would ~~we~~ have thought that this "super-metal" would be thought of as cheap fodder for electronics only a century later!
- I know right! But, I guess, I did get one thing right at the very least. In my book "What to do" I predicted a society, where people all across the country would live in giant towers made of glass.
- Oh my goodness! How have I not thought of that! Many countries today build truly gargantuan structures to accommodate for the ever-growing population and decreasing landmasses.
- Anyways, before we wrap this up, would you be so generous as to share more of your predictions with audience? I, for once, think that 6G is going to be the next big thing in the technological field!
- Ha-ha-ha! Well of course, how could I forget about the mystical beasts that are the 5G towers... On a more serious but not unrelated note, I think that we have Вариант 5. Усложнен 3.

... a decent chance of seeing technology that would allow for instantaneous information transfers within our lifetimes!

- Thank you so much for sharing your deeply insightful thoughts with the viewers at home, Mr Chernyshevsky!

This was your lovely host, Mary Sue, and with that, we'll be ending today's programme. See you all next week, goodbye!
