Dear mother, or as I like to say Salutations!

You're probably wondering how I've been doing. I have been okay, could be better. My class and I arrived at ~~arrived~~ the Starlight hotel. I must say, It is very fancy.

My room is on the top floor where the bar is.

The best part is that my balcony is facing the ocean. The locals are ~~at~~ very kind. Despite all that,

I feel like my energy is ~~at~~ drained. The more

I communicate the more tired I feel. I very much prefer our quiet countryside house.

Yesterday our class spent most of our time at the beach. Well guess what! The water was freezing cold. Not exactly. Apparently a boy in our class stepped on an urchin. Do not worry, for he is feeling better. Tomorrow we are going to visit an island, I so excited since I have never travelled by cruise before. You could say

I had a heck of a ride here. I'm assuming that when I get back from tomorrow's expedition, I'll probably do the usual. Wake up, tidy myself ~~up~~, go down to the lobby. Afterwards, eat breakfast. Then I'll go sun bathe. ~~later~~ In the afternoon I'll ~~get~~ pack my belonging and enter the bus. During that time I'll sketch in my notebook. It's not really that interesting. Sitting in a bus for 2 hours or more to get somewhere. Then again, I'd rather be in our country side house and eat something other than seafood. I think I may be homesick.

Anyw^ay, ~~I~~ can't wait for you to come visit, so we ~~can~~ could spend time together.

One more thing, I almost forgot. Could you please bring me ~~my~~ ~~or~~ paint brushes and paint. I really ~~to~~ want to paint this beautiful scenery while I'm still ~~in~~ here.

Love, your ~~own~~ wonderful daughter
