5- NO, because they just detail how important ~~being~~ <sup>it is to be</sup> at the right place, at the right time ~~is~~, and I don't find Luck inspirational.

~~What~~ What to see in London?

So, you have decided to visit London but don't know where to go? Well, first of all you should visit ~~the~~ ~~the~~ famous tube, after ~~which~~ <sup>which</sup> the Tower of London seems like a natural place to go next. The Buckingham palace is ~~and~~ very interesting place to visit if you are interested in all things Royal. It is best to visit the abbey early in the morning, as it can take ~~an~~ a lot of time to ~~visit~~ properly look at its interior. Don't <sup>forget</sup> to have ~~an~~ afternoon tea in the London eye. Our next stop is at the heart of British democracy, the Parliament. If you prefer Monarchy, <sup>it's</sup> a good place to visit the Kings and Queens museum to look at British royalty like Henry VIII. I would refrain from going to the west end of London, as criminal ~~and~~ rates are significantly ~~higher~~ <sup>there</sup>. Of course no London journey is complete without trying to see the most famous detective in the world, who lives <sup>in</sup> Baker street. I hope this little guide can help you plan your visit to London.

 Since you invited your readers to comment on your article, I have decided to write one about how we can live without plastic, ~~you see~~, in your article you have more or less stated that we can't just get rid of plastic ~~we~~ instead proposing to start a new, more sustainable relationship with it. I have to disagree, as I think that the only solution to ~~poor~~ plastic pollution is to ~~completely~~ get completely rid of it.

My first point is that humanity had managed to ~~live~~ <sup>survive</sup> for a long time before the invention of plastic, which raises the question "do we really need plastic", and the answer is, unsurprisingly, yes, we can easily prove this by looking at, for example, modern villages they largely abandon the use of plastic thus proving that humanity doesn't need plastic to thrive.

Secondly, as you said in your article, we mostly use plastic for packaging purposes, which not only explains why there is so much pollution (because we do not keep or recycle packages instead just throwing them away), but ~~also why~~ is also completely unneeded in modern society, of course it's good to have ~~various~~ various goods packed into convenient boxes, but it is ~~completely~~ completely unnecessary, which is why I think we should just get rid of plastic completely.

I think the ~~simplest~~ ~~simplest~~ simplest way of solving the problem with plastic pollution is controlled nuclear explosions, because by holding all of the plastic into one place a nuclear explosion will completely vaporise it without leaving anything behind, and ~~what's~~ on top of that it also happens very quickly allowing us to get completely rid of plastic in, probably, less than a year.

To summarise everything, I think humanity doesn't need plastic to continue <sup>their</sup> existence and thus the plastic needs to be destroyed as quickly as possible.

~~mmmm~~

yours faithfully,
