

18-25-95-23
(9.4)

МОСКОВСКИЙ ГОСУДАРСТВЕННЫЙ УНИВЕРСИТЕТ ИМЕНИ М.В.ЛОМОНОСОВА

Вариант 6(2)

Место проведения Москва
город

ПИСЬМЕННАЯ РАБОТА

Олимпиада школьников им. Ломоносова наименование олимпиады

по английскому языку
профиль олимпиады

Гали Александровна Рязанова
фамилия, имя, отчество участника (в родительном падеже)

Дата

«18» февраля 2023 года

Подпись участника

Блок 1. Listening

87/100

Методик

1. father
2. horseman
3. 7
4. ceremonial
5. drawing
6. 1853
7. 23
8. head
9. betrayal
- 10.

5/5

Блок 2 Reading

10/10

1. Teenagers gain some advantage when they reach this period of life. They are at their peak of their mental and physical abilities. Everything brings them more pleasure than it does at any other stage of life. At the same time they are still being provided with money and emotionally supported by their parents.
2. Adolescents had to start working much earlier than today because ~~was~~ there used to be no educational opportunities for everyone. So, in order to have food and shelter, teenagers had to help their families by physical work.
3. These two texts focus on completely different aspects of adolescence. The first one is about adolescence from a biological point of view: ~~they~~ the way things change in your mind and body when you reach this period of life. The second one, however, ~~is~~ tells us about the historical aspect of adolescence: how teenagers were treated back in the day and how they are treated now.

4. "The impact is not purely physical, for it is also in adolescence that new, radical and emergent ideas can make the most profound impact on imagination. It is well-known that teenagers are the easiest people to influence or even manipulate because of their increasing level of hormones." Lectobuk

That's also ~~why~~ why most of the governmental propaganda ~~targets~~ ~~is directed towards~~ <sup>is targeting</sup> teenagers and hidden in our educational patterns, school books, etc. ~~the~~ With all being said, I agree with this statement completely.

The next statement I'd like to comment on is the last one in the second text.

It's true that teenagers today ~~don't have to~~ are free from ~~all those~~ those burdens they had to bear back in the day and that they have different sorts of ~~facilities~~ facilities and deeds such as educational opportunities. But this is open ~~for~~ those who live in well-developed countries. ~~In developing and poor~~ In poor and developing countries a teenager ditch school and start working because of the lack of money. Young boys do some tough physical job and girls go prostituting their bodies.

Therefore, I agree with this statement to some extent.

5. Yes, it is possible to become independent for teenagers without education. They can either marry someone or start their own ~~business~~ business. If neither of those are available then there is the only option left is to work a lot and give up your health and many other things and ~~of~~ dreams.

18-25-95-23
(9.4)

Честовик

Block 3. Vocabulary and Grammar.

A. feedback given on +-

13/14

- 1. regularly ++
- 2. assessments ++
- 3. personal ++ +
- 4. finances +-

B. just in case +

C. vital bit of +

S. employment ++

D. the course provider provider +

E. networking opportunities to + Block 4. Cultural competence.

15

There are a lot of things to see in London. You can visit The Buckingham Palace, which, by the way, is the current residence of the royal family.

When visiting you can ~~imagine~~ imagine picture ~~etc.~~ Elizabeth I taking a stroll around the Palace. She was the oldest ~~but~~ British monarch in history.

Then, not far away, you can see the parliament Parliament - one of the oldest Parliament's in history. If you walk a little further you'll see the British Museum. It is one of the biggest biggest art museums in the world. Then take a stroll on the West End, which <sup>is what</sup> ~~is~~ used to be the part of the city where wealthy families lived.

Box 5. Writing

Dear editor!

I am writing to you to comment on the article about reducing the number of airplane flights. It is said in the article that airplane flights have an awful impact on the environment and contribute to global warming. I fully agree with this point of view. However, I think that reducing them won't be easy.

First of all, traveling by plane is cheap, especially comparing to ~~plane~~ ~~trains~~ traveling by train. Not many people could give it up.

Second of all, an airplane is a fast means of transport that can get you anywhere you want. And in our modern ~~world~~ world full of hustle and bustle, this is very essential and ~~valuable~~ valuable. Time is very essential and valuable.

For instance, imagine you want to travel to Vladivostok from Moscow. You can get there by a train that will take seven days and a lot of money. ~~It is~~ if you want to travel in good conditions during these seven days. Of course you will choose a plane over anything else for its comfort and price.

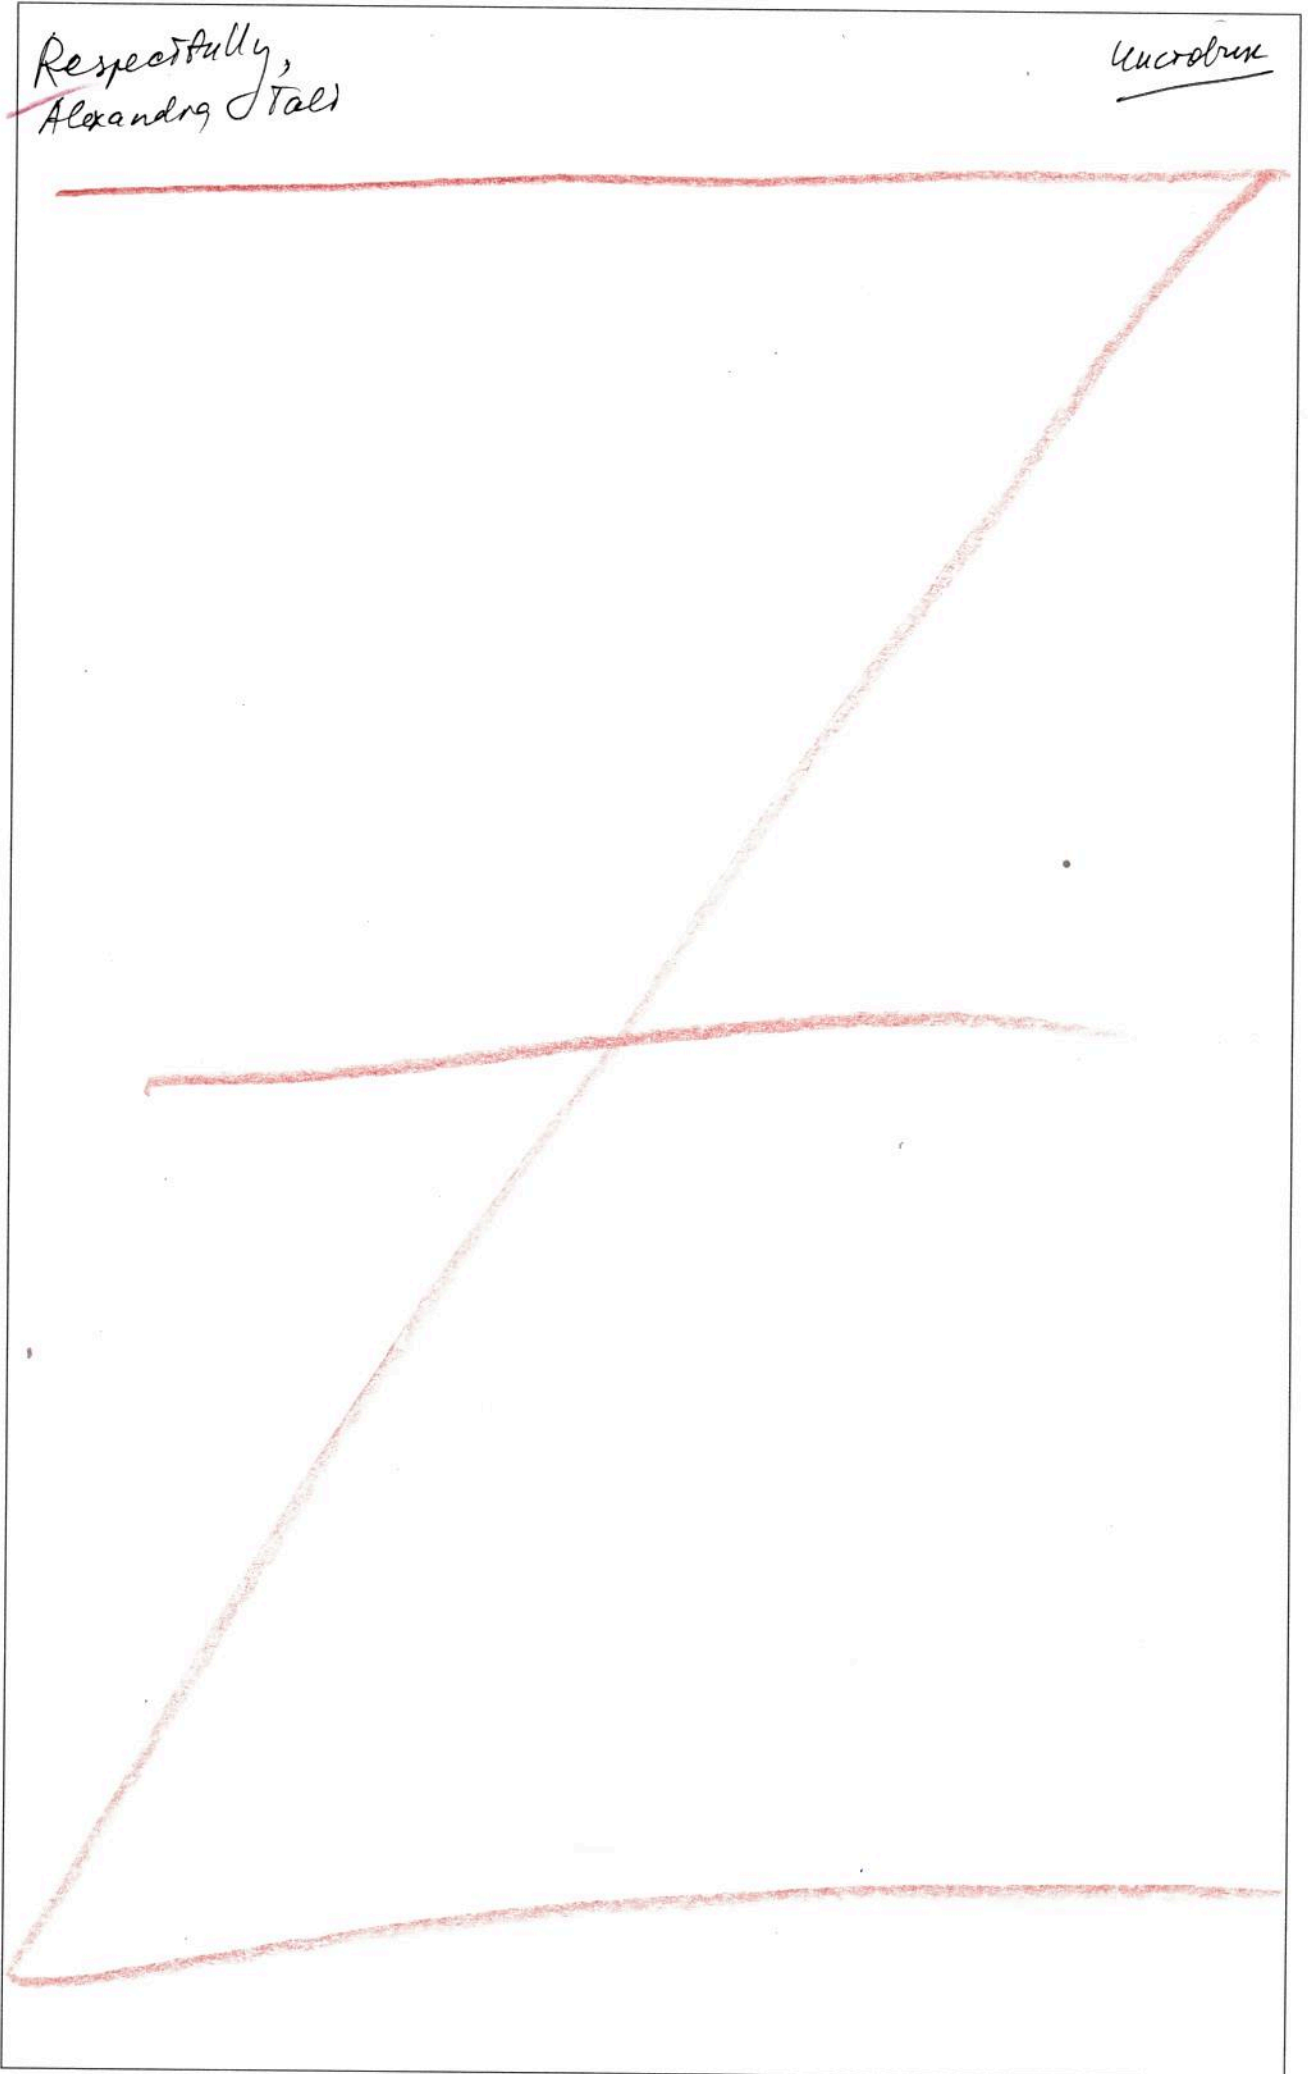

With all that being said I think we should just be more rational when it comes to ~~traveling~~ traveling. For example, if you travel somewhere ~~not that far away~~ very close (you can choose a plane since time here doesn't matter that much. ~~But~~ when it comes to ~~long~~ ~~distance~~ ~~travel~~ if you're going to ~~also~~ ~~you~~ ~~can~~ ~~book~~ an eco-friendly plane. Also today you can book an eco-friendly plane.

To sum it up, I think that not many people would give up all the advantages of traveling by plane. ~~But~~ ~~if~~ ~~you~~ ~~if~~ it is a short destination, you can choose to go there by train.

18-25-95-23
(9.4)

~~Respectfully,~~
Alexander Stal

Исходник

~~But~~ There are a lot of things to see in London. <sup>valuable</sup>
 You can visit Buckingham Palace, which, by the way, is the <sup>current</sup> residence of the royal family.
 Then not far away <sup>there is</sup> the Parliament - you can see the old one of the oldest parliaments in history. A little then, ~~a little way~~ take a ~~little~~ few, ~~not~~ a few steps - and you're already in front of the British Museum. It is included in the top-10 list of the most biggest art museums in the world.
 Then take a stroll in on the West End. It is a ~~wealthy~~ <sup>wealthy</sup> used to be the part of the city where the wealthy families lived. <sup>if you see</sup> <sup>to visit</sup> you can see Elizabeth I walking. Taking a stroll, ~~and~~ though you lack the chance of actually meeting her, she is the oldest British monarch <sup>in history</sup>.

~~Research~~
~~targeting~~ <sup>targeting</sup> ~~targeting~~ <sup>targeting</sup>

Writing

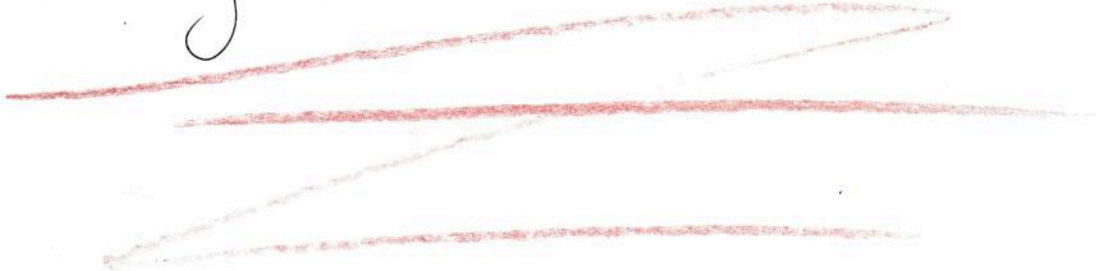

Dear editor:
 I am writing to you ~~on~~ to comment on the article about <sup>reducing</sup> the number of airplane flights. It is said in the ~~text~~ <sup>article</sup> that airplane flights ~~do~~ have an ~~adverse~~ impact on the environment and ~~also~~ contribute to global warming. I fully agree ~~with~~

- traveling
- travels
- travelling
- crawling
- ~~sero~~
- peeling
- peachy

and they have a different fac some of the opportunities facilities and needs such as school educational opportunities but all of that is open to those who live in well developed countries. In developing countries or in poor ones children still ditch school <sup>and</sup> and go start doing some <sup>tough</sup> physical work. Start working to order to get some money because of lack of money.
 Young boys do some tough physical job and girls go to prostitution their bodies.
 I agree with --- To some extent.

5. It is possible --- If we look through there is a law in Russian for everybody who has reached the age of 15 can become independent if they do one of these marry somebody or start their own business.
 If ~~it~~ <sup>you</sup> ~~are~~ <sup>to become independent</sup> you mean ~~that~~ <sup>not to need your parents</sup> or anyone else money. Then I guess, they will can, but they are going to live in tough conditions and probably do a lot work a lot and say 'goodbye' to their health, give up their health.

It is possible to become independent either marry someone or ~~start~~ their own business. If neither of these are available then the only option left is to

Ростеринг

1. father
2. horseman
3. seven
4. ceremonial
5. replica/drawing
6. 1853
7. 23
8. head
9. betrayal
10. p...

Черновик

отмет сделай мне список

1. father
2. Horseman
3. 7
4. office, ceremonial
5. replica & drawing
6. 1853
7. 23d
8. head
9. betrayal?
10. p... ?

Reading teenagers

1. Adolescents gain some advantage when... They are at the peak of their mental and physical ability. Everything for them brings them more pleasure than it does at any other stage of life. And they are supported with money and emotionally supported by their parents.

2.

Block 3.

- A - feedback given on
1. regularly?
  2. assessment
  3. personal financial personal
  4. employment personality finances
- B just in case
C bit of vital bit of
- S employment provider
P the course
E next working opportunities to

- employ(ment) 5 assess 1 finance 4 person 2 regular - 1
- assessment finances personal regularly

Scott

2 to support family's agricultural income no school, only the ~~rich~~ richest could be free from Adolescents had to work stark working workshop much earlier than ~~now~~ today because there ~~wasn't~~ ~~didn't~~ were used to be no ~~schooling~~ educational opportunities for everyone and they had to ~~was~~ help their families ~~to~~ by <sup>rough</sup> physical work. (in order to have food and shelter) completely

3. These 2 texts focus on different aspects of adolescence. The first one is about adolescence from a biological point of view: the way things change in your mind and body when you reach this period of life.

The second one however ~~the historical~~ aspect ~~is brought up~~ tells about the history of adolescence historical aspect of adolescence - how the ~~perception~~ teenagers were treated back in the day and how they are treated now.

4. It is well-known that teenagers are probably the most ~~perceivable~~ (are the easiest to influence) ~~probably~~ because of ~~hormonal~~ <sup>their</sup> increasing hormonal levels of hormones. ~~the~~ <sup>governmental</sup> propaganda is aimed to That's also why ~~promotes~~ <sup>is aimed to</sup> ~~propaganda~~ <sup>target</sup> ~~is aimed to~~
 I agree with this st. ~~at~~ <sup>completely</sup> directed to teenagers and ~~is~~ <sup>in</sup> ~~schools~~ <sup>the educational</sup> patterns, ~~text~~ books, etc School

4. (2)
 I agree to some extent with the last statement.
 It's true that young people today ~~are~~ <sup>don't</sup> ~~don't~~ have to bear these burdens they had to earlier