Nowadays we can see fine houses, roads and strong walls, which were built during the reign of William the Conqueror. It goes without saying, the Roman Empire had a great influence on Britain. Britons started to live like Romans. They went to theatres. Most of them learnt to speak Latin, to read and write. After a time Britons became christians.

However, I don't think such events as "Awesome Greece" are the most suitable for teenagers. They would rather walk along the streets of London or go shopping. Anyway, the options of this event are really awesome. Everything is planned in so, that you won't get too tired. You will definitely like lots of options in the programme.

Personally, I can offer you to visit Vladimir to see its remarkable ancient white-stone architecture. Our tour is called "Ancient Vladimir". We will certainly visit the Assumption Cathedral, St. Demetrius Cathedral and the Golden Gates - a rare monument of the old Russian military architecture.
