This speech ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ wasn't delivered by Martin Luther King, since he lived long after slavery was abolished. In this speech there is also a mention of "our race shifting their burden", which suggests that the speaker is white. I also do not think that Martin Luther King was "a hired laborer". In 20th century, when he lived, there also wasn't ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ ~~wasn't~~ a conflict between North and South about hired labor, since it was resolved in the Civil War.

Subject: Proposal to Organize an Educational Museum ~~Workshop~~ ^{Trip} ~~Workshop~~

Introduction

Museums are an important part of every city and country because they allow the visitors to briefly experience the past; ~~whether~~ whether it is a house-museum, an art gallery or a museum of natural history. It is necessary to learn about the past to understand the present and the future.

Museums and Children

It is unsurprising that few children enjoy going to ~~museums~~ museums. Many only visit local museums during school trips, thus never learning about historical artefacts or pieces of art exhibited in other countries. ~~Learning about your own culture is doubtlessly important, but so is learning about other places's history.~~ For many children Of course, it is important for the children to learn about their own culture, but for many it can become uninteresting after a while. It ~~is~~ also ~~excluding~~ ^{es} many other culturally significant places from their knowledge.

~~Museums~~

Museums in different countries
Although it can be hard to draw comparisons between different museums, since they explore completely different historic events and cultures in different places, some can be quite similar. For example, the Louvre and the Tretyakovskaya Gallery. Or the British Museum and the Pushkin ^M museum. They both exhibit artefacts from many different places and cultures, for instance, Ancient Greek statues. However, they both focus on their respective countries more than another civilizations. Russian museums tend to show many artefacts of Slavic history, while British, of course, show their local historic objects.

What makes museums interesting?

The main appeal of the museums is to learn something new which is why for ~~me~~ my friends and me many Russian museums can sound ~~a~~ quite boring. It is hard to imagine how most of them can teach a person something new about their culture, when the person lives all their life in this country. Which is why I think the museum events that show visitors something they have never seen before are incredibly important. A sleepover in a museum not only sounds fascinating but it is also something that was never done before in Russia. Usually children's events in Russian museums include special ~~trails~~ ~~trails~~, but the appeal of staying ~~in~~ there overnight is undeniable for any student, including my classmates. Being inside a historical building at night ~~is~~ ~~an~~ ~~amazing~~ ~~experience~~ sounds like an unforgettable experience.

The Event

~~The~~ ~~event~~ ~~is~~ ~~called~~ ~~"~~ ~~Hermits~~ ~~in~~ ~~the~~ ~~Hermitage~~ ~~"~~ and is ~~hosted~~ ~~by~~ ~~the~~ ~~Hermitage~~ ~~Museum~~ ~~in~~ ~~St.~~ ~~Petersburg~~. The theme of this event ~~is~~ ~~called~~ ~~"~~ ~~Russian~~ ~~rulers~~ ~~"~~, who the visitors ~~will~~ see as ghostly figures and solve riddles and puzzles connected with their lives. This is ~~aimed~~ ~~at~~ ~~adolescents~~ ~~and~~ ~~young~~ ~~adults~~. The "Hermits" in the title means that the visitors stay in the Hermitage for full 24 hours, including for sleep and meals. The visitors traverse the entirety of the ~~Hermitage~~ ~~open~~ ~~to~~ ~~the~~ ~~public~~ ~~in~~ ~~their~~ ~~action-packed~~ ~~quest~~, getting closer to these historical figures than they ever have before. This event starts at 16:00 30th May and ends at the same time the following day. There can be up to 40 people in each group, and it costs 8 thousand roubles per person.

Conclusion

In conclusion, I would like to say that events like this can revolutionize the way people think of museums and inspire them to learn more about their local and ~~not local~~ foreign history. I hope that you will consider my proposal for an educational museum trip, because I ~~am~~ am sure that all my classmates would love to take part in an event like this. It would allow each of them to look at Russian history with completely new opinions and impressions.

Черновик

out: ^{nt.} Children
 - curious
 - don't like flowers,
 like animals

Adults
 - stranger: tells good stories

- Aunt: tired, likes the children, admires the stranger

While the children in both stories are quite similar in that they are easily fascinated by the most ordinary things: in "The Lumber Room" by the lumber room and in the Story-Teller by the descriptions of the animals, the main diff is that they admire the adults in the Story-Teller.
