The two texts share an idea that, although evolution may be seen as a simple process at first, people have various misconceptions about it. The texts differ in the sense that in the article we have no information on how people viewed the world before evolution was discovered. The general takeaway from both extracts is that in subjects like biology, only the scientific method can be trusted.

~~Exercises~~

The speech was delivered by Winston Churchill.

This speech could not have been delivered by Queen Elizabeth I. The reasons are as follows.

Firstly, the words „air attack“ are used in the text. It is a reference to attacks with the use of aviation, which did not exist during Elizabeth I's lifetime.

Secondly, the word „photography“ can be found in the text. Photography also did not exist during Elizabeth I's lifetime.

Lastly, the words „world war“ are used, which means that the ~~speech~~ speech took place during the 20th century.

A) The extracts (2) and (3) have very substantial grammar, which makes their meaning slightly ambiguous and difficult to understand. For instance, the sentence: „Ain't no call to meffle with me, he ain't“ doesn't convey much meaningful information on its own, because the grammar is not being used correctly.

B) In the extract (2) the heavy use of the word „Ain't“ might hint at the speaker's Afro-American origin, as it is common ~~for~~ in their community to use such phrases. By using such grammar, the author creates an image of a poorly educated, even somewhat barbaric individual. In the extract (3) the substantial grammar might mean that the one writing the text is probably a child, hence the grammatical errors they make. The author creates an image of an amused child, trying to document their experience.

- C) - There is no call to muffle with me, he is not.
- Let him say what he likes. I don't want to have a truck with him.
 - Yes: tell him where he comes from if you want to go fortunetelling.

It was just like him doing the same thing Burr wanted me to do with the lines on the paper. I was laughing because I thought it was going to be a hard thing for a mouse to do. But then Algernon kept going all the way through that thing all the right ways until he came out where it said finish and he made a squeak. Burr says that means he was happy because he did the thing right.

Standing here today, in front of my fellow students, teachers, family members, and friends fills my heart with pride and immense joy. This graduation speech is aimed to inspire the young generation to create, to dream, to set seemingly unreachable life goals, and then, despite all odds, crush the expectations.

However, I believe we need to start with a little piece of history. My journey in this school started eleven years ago, and although from now that seems so long in the past, I am really still close to that young boy, who once went on his first trip to school.

Числовик ч

I never viewed my studies as a burden. Every day I enthusiastically strive to learn and experience new things. The friendly, inclusive environment of our school helped me elevate my talents to a level I could never imagine. During these times I learned that a sense of community and friendship is something that every individual equally needs to find. The strong olympiad community in our school has significantly ~~has~~ assisted me on my way to winning the All-Russian school olympiad in the year of 2023.

One of my most memorable moments in the school was when me and my friends were skipping the lessons we thought of as unimportant. Although we were breaking the rules, our teachers always turned a blind eye to that, as they knew we were responsible enough, to eventually pay a visit. This ~~was~~ ~~is~~ perfectly illustrates the dynamic of the relationships between students and teachers in this school, and I can only express gratitude for that.

I know, that without those around me I would never have reached an excellence in any realm of human endeavours. The love, care, and support from my teachers, friends, and family was the thing that kept me going even through the hardest of times. I am grateful beyond expression for what you have done, and it will always remain this way.

For some graduation may seem like a leap into the unknown. Future career prospects, higher education, these are all valid points to worry about. However, I, with all my confidence, assure you not to worry, but to bravely look into the future instead. We never know, which challenges we may face tomorrow, so the only rational thing to do would be to prepare your mind and soul today. Remember, your unique background is what makes you great regardless, so don't be judgemental to yourself in the times of misery.

Learn to dream, and never give up on your dreams, even if it seems as the only choice. And lastly, Always remember: there is ^{always} someone, who believes in you. So today you can all rest assured - I believe in every single one of you!

Thank you, everyone, for your attention. Delivering this speech was a huge pleasure to me.
