You are going to read an extract from a book. For questions 1-10, complete the tasks.

When school broke up at noon, Tom flew to Becky Thatcher, and whispered in her ear: "Put on your bonnet and let on you're going home; and when you get to the corner, give the rest of 'em the slip, and turn down through the lane and come back. I'll go the other way and come it over 'em the same way."

So the one went off with one group of scholars, and the other with another. In a little while the two met at the bottom of the lane, and when they reached the school they had it all to themselves. Then they sat together, with a slate before them, and Tom gave Becky the pencil and held her hand in his, guiding it, and so created another surprising house. When the interest in art began to wane, the two fell to talking.

Tom was swimming in bliss. He said:

"Do you love rats?"

"No! I hate them!"

"Well, I do, too—live ones. But I mean dead ones, to swing round your head with a string."

"No, I don't care for rats much, anyway. What I like is chewing-gum."

"Oh, I should say so! I wish I had some now."

"Do you? I've got some. I'll let you chew it awhile, but you must give it back to me."

That was agreeable, so they chewed it turn about, and dangled their legs against the bench in excess of contentment.

"Was you ever at a circus?" said Tom.

"Yes, and my pa's going to take me again some time, if I'm good."

"I been to the circus three or four times—lots of times. Church ain't shucks to a circus. There's things going on at a circus all the time. I'm going to be a clown in a circus when I grow up."

"Oh, are you! That will be nice. They're so lovely, all spotted up."

"Yes, that's so. And they get slathers of money—most a dollar a day, Ben Rogers says. Say, Becky, was you ever engaged?"

"What's that?"

"Why, engaged to be married."

"No."

"Would you like to?"

"I reckon so. I don't know. What is it like?"

"Like? Why it ain't like anything. You only just tell a boy you won't ever have anybody but him, ever ever ever, and then you kiss and that's all. Anybody can do it."

"Kiss? What do you kiss for?"

"Why, that, you know, is to—well, they always do that."

"Everybody?"

"Why, yes, everybody that's in love with each other. Do you remember what I wrote on the slate?"

"Ye—yes."

"What was it?"

"I sha'n't tell you."

"Shall I tell you?"

"Ye—yes—but some other time."

"No, now."

"No, not now—to-morrow."

"Oh, no, now. Please, Becky—I'll whisper it, I'll whisper it ever so easy."

Becky hesitating, Tom took silence for consent, and passed his arm about her waist and whispered the tale ever so softly, with his mouth close to her ear. And then he added:

"Now you whisper it to me—just the same."

She resisted, for a while, and then said:

"You turn your face away so you can't see, and then I will. But you mustn't ever tell anybody—will you, Tom? Now you won't, will you?"

"No, indeed, indeed I won't. Now, Becky."

He turned his face away. She bent timidly around till her breath stirred his curls and whispered,

"I—love—you!"

Then she sprang away and ran around and around the desks and benches, with Tom after her, and took refuge in a corner at last, with her little white apron to her face.

For questions 1-2, choose the correct answer according to the text.

Q.1. Having taken a look on the samples above, we ~~can~~ immediately understand that they're not the same. The main purpose of all these texts is to sell some product. However, the ways of achieving the goal are different. We can see that the manner of speaking, the target audience and the way of describing vary from sample to sample. ^{Q.2,3} The sample 3 is the oldest way of advertising. It gives us information in a respectful way, assures us in quality and effectiveness of the ^{good} ~~product~~. The sample 2 is the middle step between two others. The text ~~is~~ ~~the~~ portrays the product so that we could feel its superiority and excellence. The first sample is the most modern one. It ^{ad}tracts as if we are friends and it's ok to recommend us something. ^{Q.4} I believe that advertising is a significant part of our everyday life. It provides us information of the item that we are going to buy.

and tells us how to ~~write~~ do it the most convenient way
 2.3. Obviously, ^{there are a lot of} the approaches of advertising. Sometimes it can be too pushy, annoying or not decent. Personally, I think that sample 2 is the ideal example of ad. It doesn't break private boundaries and make you feel special. 2.5.
 Despite the ~~fact that advertising~~ advertising ~~is~~ is an ancient job, I think it has a lot of new opportunities in future. AI is one of them.

Your high school Film Club has asked members to send in recommendations to celebrate St Valentine's Day.

Recommend the best age-appropriate film for the occasion.

In your recommendation, answer the following questions:

11. What is the title and genre of the film?
12. What is the plot of the film in brief? (Do not include spoilers.)
13. What are the best features of the film?
14. How does the film reflect the theme of love?
15. Sum up by explaining why this film suits the tastes of your target audience.

Write at least 150 words.

Dear members of our high school Film Club, I think I've found one of the most suitable films for St. Valentine's Day celebration. It is "Me before you". The movie is a heartwarming dramedy, what means it combines two genres drama and comedy. Everybody will be glad to watch it with friends or ~~with~~ valentines. The film shows a timeless story, how a good but little bit weird girl can change a rebellious boy. Nevertheless the story doesn't look trivial. There are some tragical circumstances that bring main characters together, but despite them, the movie is full of kind but funny jokes and romantic moments. By the way, the cast of the film is quite famous. You'll recognize "the girl" if you've watched "The Game of Thrones". I believe that no one will stay indifferent to the plot, as it can melt even icy hearts. However, I should mention that the film reflects ~~a~~ sacrificing love that is a seldom treasure nowadays. It shows that sometimes we have to let our beloved ones go. This story can become a good example for young generation. But also don't get surprised if some of the girls burst in cryings. All in all, "Me before you" is the best solution because of its gripping plot, all-star cast and hilarious jokes, all this benefits will make the audience love it. I believe it'll keep the watchers on the edges of their seats!
